

Into Spaciousness

וּיּוֹצִיאַנִי לְמַרְחָב יְחַלְצֵנִי כִּי תִפְּזֵן בִּי:

Vayotziyani lamerchav y'chal'tzayni ki chafaytz bi.

God brought me into spaciousness;
and freed me out of loving desire. (Psalm 18:20)

God, as Cosmos, calls me out of my narrow perspectives into the widest possible view of Reality. In that spaciousness I am freed from my habits of constriction and reactivity. The whole of Life desires my presence, releasing me from the confining illusions of separateness, calling me into profound and loving connection.
